A Hong Kong Artist working in oil painting and mural painting. He is interested in exploring different medium in his work. He enjoys large scale painting, as well as mural painting because of its interaction with the viewer.

He states that painting can be something very personal and closed, as it may take the artist a few months staying indoors to finish a work. Mural painting allows him to have interaction and communication with the viewers, stimulating his creation within the process. He enjoys doing art installation and curating, he believes that the using of space is also part of his creation process.
